J. Berk, Ltd. has presented an innovation in antiquities and numismatics for some time now. The system is simple. When you want an antiquity or coin in the sale, just bid the listed price by phone or mail. We will send you the antiquity or coin immediately. No waiting for the closing of the sale. Any and all antiquities or coins not sold before the closing will be sent to the highest bidder on March 24, 1998.

AMPLE—You bid estimate on an item valued at $100.00 and if your bid is the 1st to reach us, you will receive the item immediately. If on the other hand, you bid $75.00 on the item and are still the high bidder at the end of the sale, the item will be mailed to you on the closing date, March 24, 1998.
you are ever in the area, stop in to see us! Of course, it's best to call first. Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. reserves the right to refuse any ridiculous bids.

The statue of Zeus Strategos on the reverse is a rendition of the statue reportedly stolen by the Roman governor Verres. In 70 BC Cicero wrote several orations reporting the numerous burglaries and injustices performed by Verres in his tenure as governor. In Section LVIII of De Signis ("Regarding the Statues"), Cicero describes this status as follows: "In truth, there were said to be in the whole world three statues of Jupiter Imperator, of the same class, all beautifully made: one was that one from Macedonia, which we have seen in the [Roman] Capitol; a second was the one at the narrow straits, which are the mouth of the Euxine Sea; the third was that which was at Syracuse, till Verres came as praetor. Flaminius removed the first from its habitation, but only to place it in the Capitol, that is to say, in the house of Jupiter upon earth; but as to the one that is at the entrance of the Euxine, that, though so many wars have proceeded from the shores of that sea, and though so many have been poured into Pontus, has still remained inviolate and untouched to this day. This third one, which was at Syracuse, which Marcus Marcellus, when in arms and victorious, has seen, which he had spared to the religion of the place, which both the citizens of, and settlers in Syracuse were used to worship and strangers not only visited, but often venerated, Caius Verres took away from the temple of Jupiter. To return to Marcellus ... In truth, he is said to have sought diligently for the great Archimedes, a man of the highest genius and skill, and to have been greatly concerned when he heard that he had been killed; but that [Verres] sought for everything which he did seek for, not for the purpose of preserving it, but of carrying it away." The statue was later reportedly the property of Marc Antony. The statue itself now destroyed, only these few coins attest to its appearance. How many sculpture coins can be so closely connected to 3 great Romans, Verres, Cicero, and Marc Antony, as well as Hieron II, Philistis, Gelon, Hieronymos, and Hannibal; the last four viewed it and must have considered the statue theirs. This coin is slightly less well-struck than lot #128 in our 100th sale. Less than 10 known. Mint State | 7500 |
